The next roller as at he set was leaking.

In the mountime, however, we had rison from the rollers, which we met nearly sters on, encountering three in succession, the anchors and chains holding on bravely. The sea was and russing in and recading with seal violence. The seak as were were rising; the shipping in the barbs, seept from their mooring, were coming into us very few minutes, and the small craft in shore were inted up and threws into the streets and left stranded. Along the water front bests were capgraed and in the water were seen in sell directions man swimming for their lives. A last the water in the bay substided into a sort of whirlpoot, and a soson as we could with any propriety man our boats, they were sent to the rescue of the downing men. Everal were period

CONFLAGRATION AT PEY HOM, N. J.

Partial Destruction of the Oil Works of Means. Ward & Co.-The Superintendent and Two Workmen Badly Burned-Loss About Twenty-five Thousand Dellars.

Hoboken and Jersey City yesterday morning was caused by the des ruction by fire of the large "treating house" of the Paragon Oli Works, owned by Mosses, Ward & Co., of this city, situated on Pon Rom crock, two miles and its contents was, unhappily, attended by the serious, if not fatal, burning of three of the employee-J.

The buildings comprising the works are four in number—the distillery, the "treating house," engine house and c oper shop. They occupied isolated positions, connected as required by pipes. The distillery contains four stills of wrought from in evilidirical forms, in which the various articles produced from crude oil are first treated, among them anothia. This production, that it may be refused and suitable for market, is sont to the "treating house," where it is placed in huge tanks for that purpose. The process of refuting it is simply a cleanaing operation, performed vary spickly by the addition of the oil of vitriol in quantities of one to three. This is empired from carboys, and while this is being done an agitator. Like a small propoller, so arranged at the hoitem of the tanks and in connection with the engine, causes it to be thereughty mixed. This work was in process sentenday sorming when an explosion of the lank being used took place, with the result of the detruction of the building and the lajory of the men noted.

the ank being used took place, with the result of the de truction of the building and the injury of the men noted. The "treatier house" was a brick building, forty by tweety feet and twenty-five feet high. It contained two large tames; but one was in use, however, at the time of the fire. This was situate at the leaver sed of the building, and contained fifty burrels of crude naphtha. At nine of clock McRiede and Gibbons were directed by Mr. Eastman, who, as a remarkable fact, was upon his first job, having but taken charge on Wednerday, to empty a carboy of vitriol into the tank, and stood by them until it was quite done, when, u minute give directions to the engineer that the speed of the agintor should be increased, he necesived, to his great wonderneon, a thin spiral column of smoke issuing from the lank, the men then allowing the few remaining dross in the carbox to drain out. For he could speak an e-planton took place that shock the building to its centre, iffied him and his companious from their feet and scattered the oil in a burning state throughout the room. The pic-cing cross of the injured men—whose hands and faces were, in their barm, bleeding state, a sight horrible to look upon—and the dark volume of thek smoke brought them ad. From other portions of the works a direct were, in their barm, bleeding state, a sight horrible to look upon—and the dark volume of thek smoke brought them ad. From other portions of the works a direct way and batiling the fame, carried the men to a since of safety; subsequently McBride and Gibbons were conveyed in a carried the men to a since of safety; subsequently men as well as could be expected. Pears are entertained the line between the remarks of the supprintendent to this boarding house in the vicinity. Medical sid was produced as soon as possible and at a line hour the fift.

The injured men removed, attantor was immediately thread to the human in the remarks of the second second of the second s Exposion upon explosion occurred in the burning building, barrel after barrel bursting, and the scething building, barrel after barrel bursting, and the scething flavors scenario more deman little as they shad up higher and higher. The bursing oil flowed slown the banks of the creek and sovered as sarface. This caused a great alarm, as the creek being but forty foot wide, and the clock of the works on the opposite side extending to the edge, they also would take fire. But men were stationed along its banks, and with the free use of snow an thereof the bursting attents.

The cause of the explosion remains a mystery; but Mr Sasfanan from his long experience in like work, can easily surround that, if was from an inferior quality of vitriol. The graturious abbertion that if was preduced by smoking in without foundation. The workmen around that and all other factories of its character, are over viginal scatting against the appreach of any caps or once smoking cuency.
